On the dance floor, nothing else matters except for when the 808 hits. The momentum of its steady beat drives a wave of energy and one cannot help but be moved by its current. CATANYA ELISE

ULTROS

The Allure Lounge was founded over three years ago by Catanya Elise in an effort to build a community focused on fun and off-content activities. Starting off with just a small group of friends, the Lounge has cultivated itself to become one of Primal's premier live-entertainment venues.

> "We want to welcome anyone, no matter level or experience to come and join us! Whether you're experienced in roleplay or you just like to be social and casual, we'd like to be a safe place for all."

-Catanya Elise

FOX CREED & DJ SAINA

ULTROS

If you were wondering how long you could jam to The Twinning's Theme before you go insane, rest assured that the Allure Lounge provides an alternative source of music for its patrons to dance to on their Discord server. Saina Moonglade of Ultros, the Lounge's DJ, dedicates himself to providing a curated selection of songs each week to ensure everyone is on the same beat. Just like with any other DJ at the club, you can even request songs to be played for you and others on the dancefloor to spin to. Saina also doubles as a bartender when they're off the turntables, so if you think they're quite the "pretty young thang" be sure to tip a little extra with your triple shot of Patron on the rocks (with a little bit of lime).

"I think what makes us stand out, and my favorite part about us, is that we're very personal with our guests. We try hard to make everyone who comes in feel welcome...I think that's a major way that we've gotten so many regulars now and such lively people."

-Fox Creed

With a bit of luck and rng, one can find themselves lining their pocket with an extra bit of Gil. The Allure Lounge makes it clear that their venue isn't only for the music, but also for the clink that money makes to keep a gambler wanting more. The gambling den hosts easy-to-participate games of dice with high-rollers potentially earning up to quintuple their initial bet. Even if one enters Gil-less, raffles are held almost every week to show that anyone can make it big.

COME SEE US ON FRIDAYS!

Hospitality is the presiding tenet of the Allure Lounge and is core to how they operate. While many real-life counterparts can be intimidating for most, the Allure Lounge ensures its patrons that their guests are safe within their walls. The Lounge employs its own security team spearheaded by Lounge Security of Lamia to bounce out any unruly individuals. But don't let that intimidate you, any staff member will tell you that their main goal is to make all feel welcome. So if you're in the mood to have a bit of fun in the world of Final Fantasy XIV, be sure to bring yourself and maybe some friends to the Allure Lounge this weekend.

LEEJA'S HOUSING CORNER

featuring Specter Saruu's home on Jenova

Hello and welcome to another edition of Leeja's Housing Corner! I found myself wandering around the Lavender Beds on Jenova the other day when I stumbled upon this truly marvelous cottage owned by Specter Saruu. Their cottage is tucked away in the heart of the Lavender Beds. The sound of the nearby rushing water and the tickle of the cool breeze flitting amongst the trees set the mood for our next housing adventure!

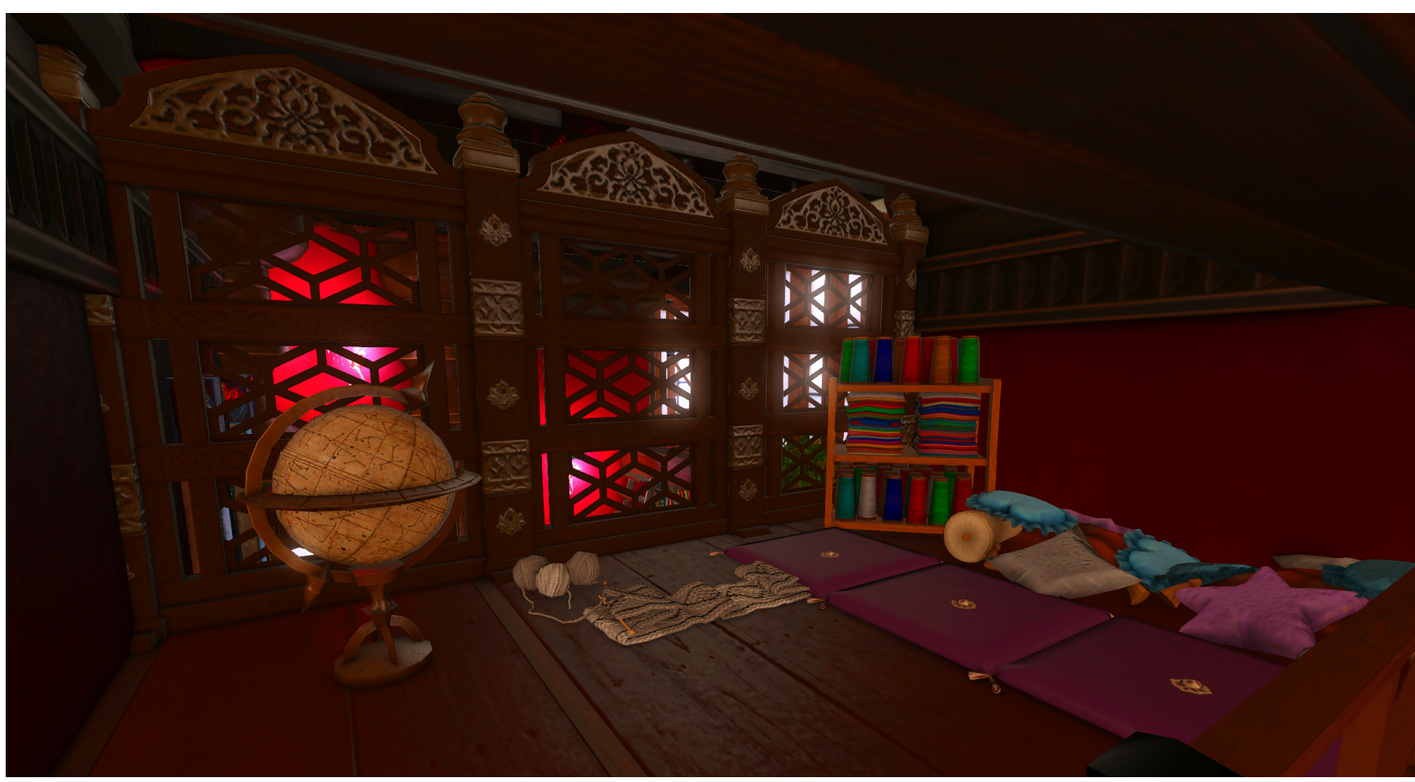
I entered the yard surrounded by lush hedges and was immediately greeted by beautiful, bright colors from all of the florals decorating the area. I walked under the Living Arch, which was settled behind two Brick Garden Walls, and was surprised to find a hidden seating area! Situated under the lovely hanging flowers of the Dohn Trellis was a seating area full of delicious drink and food. A small Garden Pond sat off to the right, nestled into the bunches of Lakeland's own flower garden. Such a truly tranquil setting; I found it hard to pull myself away to explore the interior!

As I entered the cottage, I was pleasantly surprised to find a quaint eatery. Expertly lit using the interior lighting from the chandelier, as well as from the Imitation Square and Long Windows placed around the cafe, a sense of warmth soon filled me. I found myself feeling at ease, observing the artfully decorated cafe.

Behind the counter to the right, a stern-faced Au Ra stood watching over the till and a large pot of simmering stew that smelled absolutely delicious! Above the counter, Verdant Partitions hung from the ceiling in an intersecting pattern. Beams of light were peaking through the partitions, giving off quite an ethereal effect.

Pulling my eyes away, I looked to the left noting a small, Used Banquet Table set against one of the aforementioned Imitation Square Windows which was lined with red Oldrose Wall Planters. A green curtain hangs delicately between the sunlit window, adding a pop of color to the rustic brown interior. Freshly baked breads lined the back wall, the heavenly aroma wafting towards me, making my stomach rumble hungrily.

I quickly turned around and headed towards the door leading to the lower level. As I headed through the door, the warm glow of a Lily Wall Lamp flickered gently on the wall below. A ladder sat against the back wall, leading up to a loft where Specter was most recently enjoying some knitting. Royal Partitions lined the back of the Wooden Loft, which added a lovely design as well as protection from any precarious tumbles.



In the space to the right, hung a green Chirurgeon's Curtain. I walked through the curtain and was met with one of, if not the coziest bathrooms I have ever had the pleasure of viewing. The back wall was lined with Verdant Partitions, and a Carbuncle Bathtub was nestled into the corner. To my right was a Grade-3 Picture Frame turned into an ornate mirror which lined the wall above the washbasin. Quite ingenious, in my humble opinion, as well as lovely!

An Oasis Wardrobe lined the wall to my left, next to a seated area where Specter had laid out their Mummer's Maquillage alongside a Vanity Mirror. The bottom cabinets from the Mirific Mogshelf were hung overhead, allowing for extra storage without over-cluttering the small space.

I made my way back into the hall and turned the corner to find myself facing another lofted area above a gorgeous indoor garden sitting area. In the loft was a simple bedroom—a Double Feather Bed laid against Imitation Square Windows and Verdant Partitions. A peaceful place to lay one's head to rest after a long day.

Stepping down from the ladder, I stopped to view the sitting area underneath the loft. Verdant Partitions, again, lined the back wall while a Mounted Bookshelf was settled against the wall to the left. A Ronkan Rocking Chair set in the corner, on carpets of flowers which contrasted beautifully against the greens of the Verdant Partition.

A book was laid open on the wooden table, lit by the light of Assorted Candles and a floating Jellyfish Lamp. It was difficult for me to resist sitting down and losing myself in a good book, but I had intruded long enough. It was time for me to make my way home.

I walked back upstairs and headed toward the front door, pausing to take one last look before taking my leave. Should you ever find yourself wandering around Jenova's Lavender Beds, you would do well to pay Specter a visit; they can be found in Ward 17, on Plot 23.

Well friends, I hope you have enjoyed this visit as much as I did! As always, I am always looking for new houses or apartments to visit, so if you or anyone you know want to be featured in an upcoming article give me a shout on Lamia, or you can find me in our Discord. Until next time!

ARTIST SHOW CASE

How long have you been creating art?

First of all, I would like to thank GPOSERS for hosting this interview with me. I am very happy to have been included in the GPOSERS magazine, it is such a pleasure! I appreciate all of their hard work in making this wonderful magazine.

As for the question, I have been creating art for a long time. I started drawing traditionally with pen and paper when I was around ten years old, and three years later I was gifted my very first digital drawing tablet. I started using it and learning more about digital art, so now I mostly make digital art and all through years of self teaching. It has been nearly ten years of digital drawing for me; I am enjoying drawing every day, it is very much like a part of me now.

What do you love to draw the most?

I love drawing fanart of different series that I enjoy, like Final Fantasy XIV and characters that I enjoy from each. I like experimenting with the color palette in my pieces as well, figuring out what palette works under different environments, and what kind of pose and facial expression the character will be making would look best. And of course, I like drawing cute characters, be it fanart or original.

gposers

gposers

What motivates you to draw?

What I experience in XIV, the community, and my friends all inspire me to continue and make artwork. My followers encourage me to make more artwork; it is the best motivation of all. I also enjoy the process of drawing, like I said before, it is much like a part of me and I enjoy seeing my thoughts translated into the canvas before me.

Who/What is the inspiration behind your art?

A lot of artists inspire me, and specifically anime and manga artists. One of my favorites are the masters Krenz and ASK. Speaking of Final Fantasy artists, I do like master Yoshitaka Amano and Akihiko Yoshida's artwork. I also look at the old masters' art, because it is always good to learn from the greatest masters of all time.

Do you accept commissions?

Yes! You can get monthly artwork from me in my Patreon. As for commissions outside of Patreon, I do them, but at the moment they are closed. I am more or less busy with my Patreon now.

Adventurous Roleplay

AND WHERE TO FIND IT

WITH KHANTYER DOTHARL

make it

Before we dive right into it: Do you roleplay? Or at the very least know what roleplaying is?

Yeah, you do! In almost every digital or tabletop game, you are adopting a role when playing the game either alone or with companions. It doesn't matter if you make something extravagant or casual out of it. And there are varying degrees of this experience or "immersion", ranging from flexing a few "headcanons" and concepts, to full on lore compendiums and character backgrounds which further develop the world you adventure in!

But knowing this, what constitutes an adventure? Or better yet, where does one find adventure in the various games we play? In the world of Final Fantasy XIV—aside from the main scenario quest lines—"adventures" are literally what you, the player, make of them!

But you already knew that, right?

So let's get into it!

You're all set with your starter concept, your ideal attire (or close to it!), and your class/role to reflect your internal norm (i.e. your headcanon)...now, where to?

Most often, new and veteran roleplayers find themselves stuck on the latter and tend to wander around for an opportunity to come to them. After all, we roleplayers spend a lot of time hashing out our concepts; why wouldn't folks want to flock to us? A tip when it comes to roleplay in a large MMORPG: go where the action is!

Data centers with large numbers of roleplayers such as Light and Crystal have their own acknowledged hubs for congregation and public events, but just as there are various kinds of roleplayers, there are a variety of spots where roleplay takes place.

For instance, though all data centers host the same starter zones, areas such as Ul'dah and Gridania and their neighboring townships host more general roleplay opportunities on Crystal. This is in contrast to Light, where individual taverns and the open streets provide generalized roleplay.

In either instance, simply walking into a gathering may seem daunting at first, but some suggestions to get your adventure going are as follows:

- Read the room. Settle in for a few moments and catch what conversations are going on to better immerse yourself in the setting.
- Make yourself present. A few actions or emotes in-between the wait could be the icebreaker needed to get you going
- Exercise patience. Even if you're a fast typist or are really eager to get going, replying and taking notice of replies doesn't happen at the same pace. So this does not mean you're being ignored! If you choose to interact, give a few moments for a returned reply. That courteous minute can be the defining start of your roleplay experience!

If you're an avid roleplayer, you've likely rolled your eyes a few times saying "Yes, yes. I know this already" or maybe "Yeah well, I've tried all that, but I'm still not getting the experience I want. Things are too general."

Then consider this shining gem:

Create your own adventure!

The user interface of XIV provides means to do so, mainly through the party finder. Some players seek a particular kind of experience that may not be found in the general hubs or even in their free companies (more on that another day). Party finder is a useful tool to reach the masses on your data center to either advertise your idea or join in one made by someone else!

Discord also provides a resource for finding and developing roleplay interactions and connections!

If you choose to reach out en-masse: Make sure your advertisement reflects your concept and is concise.

- State your rating. This is a courtesy. While you may be comfortable with some concepts, others may not and could be met with an unpleasant surprise.
- Have a location in mind. Or at least a starting point! With as many locations and hidden gems as exist, there is bound to be a place to congregate! Get creative and find an area that suits the theme of your adventure.
- Allow room for err and change! Adventures have all kinds of obstacles and happenings, so be relatively flexible for yours and others' enjoyment!

gposers

Hopefully these suggestions will add to your roleplay experience, but let's not forget: above all else, roleplay is meant to be a fun and enjoyable experience for all those involved. It may take time, it may call for some patience, but remember not to stress about it even if you make mistakes. Who knows, those little mistakes would be what makes your adventures all the more exciting!

So put on your best glam and get out there!

Hanging Barbs

While the purpose of these glowing baubles is known only to the Sylphs that make the dangerous region their home, the splendid scenery illuminated by their gentle light has proven to make the area a favorite for painters and adventurers alike.

Plum Spring
Yanxia (35, 22)

The plum trees surrounding this secluded spring are said to be the pride of the village of Namai, and its waters are home to several unique species of fish of questionable origin. No few adventurers are wont to pause for a time after discovering this particular hidden gem.

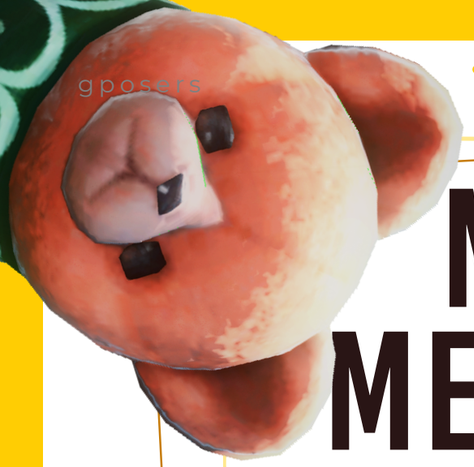
The Red Chalice
The Rak'tika Greatwood (9, 21)

Both the Night's Blessed and the Children of the Everlasting Dark share a tradition that explains the contents of this stunning lake. Upon death, they believe the spirit is returned to the sunless sea of the heavens. With the night's sky banished from Norvandt, the tribes sought to see each weary soul to safety, casting a single colorful rock or gem into the black pools of water.



MINION MENAGERIE

"Since the dawn of the Eighth Astral Era, we have seen an influx of life, the likes of which have never been seen prior. We call them Minions. Upon the many lands that make up our beautiful blue planet, you will find these cuddly—and not so cuddly—critters in great abundance. On your adventures, you will doubtlessly run into many different kinds. In this issue, I will be introducing you to just a small selection of the wondrous animals that share our world. Lions, tigers, and bears—oh my!"

ROSE

by yulia rose

We at the GPOSERS HQ have been constantly looking for ways to bring a little more flavor into our screenshots. We've been covering photography fundamentals with the Photosmith guides, and have been learning how to manipulate them in Photoshop with S'enne's guides. But we believe there is a little more we can do in terms of out-of-the-box ideas for screenshots.

That is when we chanced upon the Final Fantasy XIV community's creative use of housing items in their studios to create perfect backdrops for their photos. We have been inspired as well to create our own, and share the tips and tricks with everyone so that you guys are able to make some of your own as well. We will be tackling some of the many ways you can transform a boring studio into dynamic themes and styles, and maybe sometime in the future be able to put out ideas you can also use in your actual housing as well.

Flower Power

We all love to take photos amongst flowers. We've all seen the hundreds and thousands of screenshots among the pink flowers in the Royal Menagerie, or those of everyone and their mothers frolicking in the flower fields of Il Mheg. Can you blame them though? Flowers are beautiful, colorful and almost never fail to create a beautiful and decorative natural backdrop.

Hear this though: What if we can bring the outside into our studios so we can have more control over the lighting? Even better actually, what if I say we can create a little flower area for your screenshots where you have the freedom to choose any flower variants and color schemes for your backdrop, and also set the flowers any way you want to?

Let's get right to it. You'll need your basic studio set-up. I am using stage panels forming a semi-enclosed box for the walls, and I am lining the bottom with a combed wool rug or two. You are also welcome to use white screens for your studio as well.

Next up, we will be gathering our plants and flowers! There are several flowering plant housing items in the game, but for this guide, we will be using a lot of the home-grown flowers that you can put in vases. You can either purchase the seeds from a Material Supplier, an Apartment Merchant, or from the market board and then grow them in planters in your private housing or apartment. If you simply don't have time to wait, you can buy the flowers straightaway from the market board as well! Gather a lot of Riviera/Glade/Oasis Vases and then procure some flowers. We're about to start being florists for the day!

Our Photosmith guide in Vol. 11 covers more in-depth about how to set up your studio!

Our first set-up is quite simple. We just place a bunch of flowers on the floor of the studio and sit yourself in the middle of it. Insta-flowerbed!

One technique to be able to make the most of all the flowers you have gathered is to arrange them by their size and their height. We take the small, short flowers like the White Daisies in front of the stool, and then the slightly taller Purple Tulips and Blue Brightlilies on the sides.

stools are also lalafell friendly!

For this other set-up, we have the subject standing or sitting straight up. We have gathered a bunch of purple, blue, and white flowers and have arranged them around you or Glade Stool serving as your character's placeholder.

For the back, we need something tall enough that would not easily be eclipsed by your character. The Imposing Dimension Castle Vase—ready-made flowers already available in-game with no growing required—will do just the trick. I popped two of them behind the stool to finish off the arrangement.

Floating Furniture

There are a lot of tall plants in-game we can use than just the Imposing Dimension Castle Vase from the previous example, however there is another way we can have an arrangement of flowers that can go nicely as your backdrop. We can achieve this through the Tabletop Float Glitch!

Now I know what's going on in your head right now, and that's the many horror stories you've heard about glitching furniture. I assure you that it isn't as bad as people make it out to be, and you'd be glad to know that we'd only be using the simplest of glitching techniques for this guide! Let me hold your hand through the steps.

1 Place a partition right behind where you want your flower vase to be floated. The best partitions to use for this glitching technique are Stage Panels or Rectangular White Partitions as they allow you to easily place any wall-hanging as high as the top of the ceiling or as low as just a pixel above the floor without any obstructions.

2 Place a Riviera Wall Shelf on the level where you want to place your floating vase. Then, place your flower vase accordingly on top of the shelf.

Most other partitions like Blank Riviera/Glade/Oasis/ White Partitions are okay too, but they have some of their parts obstructed so you can't hang items as freely. :<

Let's get GLITCHING!

3 Toggle off "Counter Placement". It should be the upper small button that looks like windows in your Layout Mode menu at the bottom of your screen.

4 Take your shelf and your flower together and drag them anywhere away from the partition, but do not place it down! Afterwards, press the right-click on your mouse (or O on the PS4 controller / B on an Xbox controller) to cancel your action.

5 At this point, when you select the shelf (or as well as the partition), it does not highlight your vase. You should now be able to drag away your shelf or your partition from the tabletop object. Your vase should now be floating in mid-air!

6 Finally, rotate your tabletop object in order to secure the glitch. You may rotate it anyway you want and even snap it back to its original rotation, just make sure you have rotated it at least once.

With this, you should be able to place flowers all around you in any way you want without having to worry about trying to find the right height counters for them. Make sure to remember arranging them accordingly in height and size so you can see all your flowers. Otherwise, have fun and try a bunch of arrangements and see what works best for you!

During your photoshoot, you can try to rearrange your flowers to fit different angles as well. Set yourself or your subject as your guide when placing the flowers.

We also encourage you to try different themes as well! Work with different color palettes, whether you are going for a single color theme or color palettes...or maybe even a whole rainbow of flowers!

look for INSPIRATION online!

That's it for this tutorial! But don't worry, because we will be whipping up new ideas in our future issues. We'd love to see you try out what you've seen in this guide in our screenshot showroom in our Discord or in our various social media. We would also be interested in hearing more housing or studio ideas you have that you'd love for us to try out for you. Just send us a message in our feedback channel!

Till then! Happy flower-arranging folks!

AINE

ZODIARK

Nice to meet you all! I'm Aine from Zodiark. I have always tried to be active in the GPOSERS server, from the Community Collection to the Weekly Feature, but I finally got the chance to offer my skills and creativity to a project I have gladly followed around! GPOSERS issues are always full of content and knowledge, and for this reason I'm extremely happy that I can contribute too—to enrich it! So I hope you will enjoy it even more!

Final Fantasy XIV was my first ever MMORPG and I started playing it last year. Funnily enough though, this wasn't my first meeting with the game. I still remember little me being curious about this new Final Fantasy online game...but unfortunately (or luckily) it seemed 1.0 didn't want to meet me.

I'm a fully casual player, I play mostly for the main story. But from one quest to another I always find time to type in /gpose and spend hours taking photos— I just can't help myself. When I get an idea in my mind I need to work on it! Recently, I also discovered the fantastic world of housing in XIV, which I now try to get people interested in (and my FC members hate me for it). I'm really enjoying renovating my house with the new items from the patch!

Within the GPOSERS team you can find me helping out as the Italian translator, but I am primarily a videographer. Video editing has always been one of my hobbies, I consider it one of many ways I have to express myself so I'm excited to try it in XIV. So I hope you'll enjoy the upcoming projects with me!

/gpos- I mean, see you around!

ALETERASU

ARTIST, DESIGNER, QA

ULTROS

Hi there! I'm Aleterasu Tsubasa, a Miqo'te Moon Keeper residing on Ultros. It's a joy being a new asset to such a successful production as GPOSERS, and I'm looking forward to flexing my creative muscles with these talented folks! Feel free to call me Alet or Ale (pronounced like Alley, not a delicious beverage) for short.

I'm from New Jersey in the United States. It's a fantastic experience to be so close to a metropolis like New York City while at the same time being a hop-skip-and-a-jump away from the beach. In between my busy life I am spending time with my significant other, playing Animal Crossing, cuddling my fur child Sophia, watching anime, or bullet journaling. My bubble tea order is peach oolong tea with a milk-cap. I love to eat pho on a rainy day, or go out for sushi!

I have played Final Fantasy XIV since about 2014, and mained summoner/scholar all the way until Shadowbringers! I'm a dancer convert now; the rotational flow is by far my favorite. In-game you can usually find me hunting primals with my best friends, /gposing, crafting up a storm, finding a new glamour (again), and redecorating our FC house for the 15,897,456,230th time.

Design was something I always saw myself doing. Whether it's a logo for my free company, helping someone design their home in-game, or getting a small business off the ground with stylish packaging, it all just takes a little love! I'm particularly passionate about branding, art-direction, magazine design, and layout design. Being able to help people make their imaginations tangible is an extremely rewarding venture, and I'm looking forward to contributing this passion to the GPOSERS team.

Please feel free to drop a /lali-ho if you ever see me around!

KHANTYER

ARTIST, AUTHOR
MATEUS

Howdy!

Feel free to call me either Zyn or Khan.

Gaming has been part of my life since I could hold a controller—thanks to my dad's positive influence—as well as character building and story writing. I have been roleplaying since I was first able to write a coherent sentence and I have never looked back! In Final Fantasy XIV, I roleplay three Xaela, with one of them leading a small tribe which will celebrate its 4th year in September 2020!

On the whole, I started XIV with its release in 2010, but then took a break for some alternative MMORPG love before returning with its re-release in 2013. Suffice it to say, the game is "life". I even got my family to play it with me for a bit at the beginning! As the roleplay scene developed and poured into my preferred world, I dipped a toe in and was swiftly taken by its current! Experiences have varied but all provide their own unique addition to my characters and their development, even inspiring my creation of 'dolls' to represent different concepts!

Through the supportive guidance of our staff, I intend to help shine light on the unique aspects of roleplay in the community, not just on one data center, but others that host engaging events and activities! As well as offer little mementos of proud concepts, be they roleplay or PvE-based!

If you're on the Crystal Data Center and see a white-haired Khantyer Dotharl running around (or standing in /gpose), I'd welcome a "hello"! Or even a screenshot! If I'm not seen, I'm likely neck-deep in content. So holler if you need a certain class to help with the queue!

Happy Gaming!

SIRENIA

GLAM ARTIST

HYPERION

Well met! I am Sirenia Severus from the world Hyperion. I am super excited to join the GPOSERS staff and delighted to contribute to this amazing magazine. I don't know about you, but I'm always excited when another issue is released!

I have played Final Fantasy XIV since its beginning stages, starting as a beta tester before the release of 1.0. While I have mostly been a Midlander, from time to time you can find me scratching my fantasia itch and switching to an Au Ra or Viera.

I tend to play healers in most MMORPGs and XIV has been no exception. My main is white mage but I tend not to get very deep into the endgame anymore.

In Eorzea you can find me digging through my glamour dresser, agonizing over what to wear, and complaining that there just aren't nearly enough slots for glam plates. But, then again, when will there ever be enough? I am also known to be stuck in /gpose quite a bit and always on a hunt to find scenic venues to draw inspiration from. I do like to dabble in interior decorating and have designed a few homes along the way. You'll sometimes find me at role-playing events, but I must admit that I am not very good at it.

Out of the game I am a proud labor and delivery nurse and enjoy taking care of my house and home. I do love making friends and can be found creeping and snapping screenshots when my victims aren't looking.

Please don't be afraid to say "Hi" if you ever see me running around!
